

DIAMOND IN PARADISE

I was so thrilled and grateful to have been able to enjoy another week with the MonaVie family in Maui at the magnificent Grand Wailea resort. The Diamond Destination really is a beautiful piece of paradise to look forward to each year. The only thing missing there was you! See you next year at the Diamond Destination.

Diamond Destination was everything we anticipated and more. MonaVie goes all out and the Grand Wailea was a first class experience! The corporate staff is like family and goes the extra mile to ensure everyone is welcomed and appreciated! In Maui, I cherished making new friends who—in this business—become lifelong friends. MonaVie continues to reward and pamper leaders who show up to go up.

2012 Diamond Destination was again beyond our expectations, everyone loves Maui, but Maui at the Grand Wailea surrounded by friends and business partners is what makes it special!

As you step off of the airplane, you're first impressed by the balmy air—just the right temperature to set you at ease and a balance of moisture in the air that allows your skin to open up and start softening immediately. Warm smiles from the greeters welcome you as you bend just enough to allow them to place a lei of tropical flowers around your neck. The petals are cool to the touch. Excited voices—yours among them—ring down the hallway as you move through the airport, anxiously awaiting what will no doubt be one of the fondest memories you'll ever make.

If you were on the Maui Diamond Destination, you know exactly what that description is talking about. The 2012 Diamond Destination qualifiers were whisked away to the island paradise of Hawaii, where they stayed at the renowned Grand Wailea hotel. Over the next few days, groups of qualifiers from every MonaVie market participated in all that this tropical getaway has to offer.

The first order of business for Diamond Destination gifts was to be outfitted with custom-fitted Maui Jim sunglasses followed by an exclusive luau. Hula and fire dancers entertained guests as they enjoyed live music and exotic food. The luau was topped off with a breathtaking view of the sun setting over the tranquil Pacific.

The festivities truly got under way the next day. First-time qualifiers were given an essential Hawaii survival kit. Qualifiers participated in a myriad of activities. With plenty of shopping as well as snorkeling, scuba diving, lounging on the beach and by the pool, golfing, and touring the sites, this Diamond Destination was packed with memory-making moments.

Qualifiers also joined group activities, including beach games. Kids got in on the action with sand sculpting, while everyone enjoyed building rafts for a race, conch shell competitions, lobster tosses, and cheers. Team USA squeaked out a victory over the corporate team in the annual water volleyball tournament. The leisurely atmosphere also provided ample opportunity for qualifiers to meet with company executives and founders. Each country group also enjoyed exclusive meetings, and recognition meetings allowed time for each participant to be congratulated for their hard work.

While the 2012 Diamond Destination was unrivalled in its luxury and fun, the 2013 event promises to be that and more! Qualification is under way, so make 2013 the year you enjoy a bit of paradise with MonaVie.
